5-1 Workcapms

Old House Reconstruction in Rural Village

VYA-2301Xiluo; Jul. 4th-15th; Xiluo, Yunlin County; RENO+ARGI+Cul+COM; 10Vols

This project is inviting volunteers to deeply involve themselves in the renovation of the historic Yenping town street, and to experience the local atmosphere by repairing old houses and participating in agricultural life within 12 days in Xiluo Township.

Xiluo Township, located in the middle of Taiwan, has a 360-year history and is the most northern district of Yunlin County. It is situated closest to the Zhuo Shui River, the longest river in Taiwan, and is known for its production of rice, fruits, and vegetables. The nearby river was used for transportation of people and goods for over 100 years.

During the Japanese colonial era, Xiluo was planned to be a modern and role model town. In order to cooperate with the street-widening process, architectural facades were removed and buildings' heights were altered. From 1925 to 1945, many stylish buildings were constructed on Yenping Street, with various unique architectural styles. In just a few years, an 840-meter stretch of the street saw the construction of hundreds of Art Deco houses that contain the essence of Xiluo's history and culture.

Today, walking along Yenping Historical Street, visitors can see 142 decorated historical houses, most of which were built over 90 years ago. A century ago, Yenping Street was the "downtown" area and shops were busy with visitors, but now many of the houses are empty and old. The residents have moved with their families to other cities away from Xiluo, and Yenping Street has become quiet.

Thanks to the "Community Renaissance" movement conducted by the Louyoung Foundation and the local government, the street has become fabulous. Over the past 7 years, the Foundation has invited many cultural groups and artists to stay in Xiluo for an extended period and host different performances. They have also hosted 7 international work camps that focused on renovating heritage houses.

In 2022, Liao Jih-chou and Liao Jih-kang, overseas hometown acquaintances, donated two old houses (No. 110 and No. 112) on Yanping Road to the Louyoung Education and Culture Foundation in accordance with their parents' wishes. No. 110 was the former Te-Chun Dental Clinic, and the Foundation has gradually entered the dilapidated house for cleaning and restoration. At the same time, the history of the Liao family was researched and artifacts collected. Invitations were also extended to resident artists to use their art to enter the old house.

During the first week of the volunteer project, participants will repair the old houses (No. 110 and No. 112) on Yanping Road. Afterwards, they will clean the nearby garden of the local museum, experience agricultural life in Xiluo, and participate in a handicraft workshop.

International friends are welcome to join this project, which is not just about voluntary work, but also about learning Taiwanese culture and having a unique life experience.

W:

1. We will be repairing the old houses at No. 110 and No. 112 to revitalize the old community and prepare for the creation of a Learning Commons in the future.
2. Participants will have the opportunity to learn about various types of organic vegetables and their production process, as well as experience working as farmers.
3. We will collaborate with local residents to create public artwork and improve the community environment.

AD:

We will be staying at the Xiluo International Volunteer House (No.72), which is located near the Xiluo Cultural Museum. The house is equipped with comfortable beds, air conditioning, toilets, and a single hot shower. We suggest that male volunteers use the Xiluo backpacker house (No.81) for showering. The backpacker house, which is managed by the Rotary Club of Xiluo, is located close to our work site, and volunteers are always welcomed with their kindness. To maintain good relations, we need to keep the house clean and refrain from smoking inside the building.

During the project, we will mainly use bicycles for transportation, so please ensure that you are comfortable with bike riding. We will be cooking our own meals, but there will also be opportunities to eat at local restaurants or purchase packed meals.

Internet access is available at the Luoyoung Foundation office, the backpacker house, and the Volunteer House.

Embark on Agro-Living

VYA-2302ST; Aug. 2nd-11th; Taoyuan City; EDU, CONS, KIDS; 8 Vols.

Background

This project is located in the countryside of Zhongli District, Taoyuan, Taiwan. This village is close to the international airport and Chingpu New Town. It is the only surviving community next to the urban area yet still retains a complete traditional Hakka rural life.

Community Features:

- The rural population is aging, but fortunately, the traditional agriculture handicrafts and life skills have remained.
- Due to urbanization and proximity to the international airport, the community has a lot of new residents and immigrants from other countries. These new residents from different countries are rich in food, living and various cultures in the communities, but they also bring a lot of collisions and disputes in the lives of the aboriginal Hakka people

The Hakka people are the second largest ethnic group in Taiwan. Their characteristics are respect for nature, love for the earth, diligence, and thrift.

This project will assist local organizations to promote habitat agriculture, let natural ecology and agriculture coexist, and implement the Satoyama Initiative. We will Inherit the craftsmanship of craftsmen, with learning and field exercises of using the natural construction methods of earth, bamboo and stone. We will also conduct cultural exchanges with new immigrants through foreign food exchanges to enhance mutual understanding, reduce conflicts, and have harmonious life together.

Aims:

With Agro-living Wellness, we aim to achieve 3 Growths & 2 Gives:

1. Growth in awareness of the importance of sustainable habitats ("SATOYAMA")
2. Growth in local work force participation rate of the community
3. Growth in volunteers' wellness of body, mind and spirit
4. Give a sense of pride to the people of the community
5. Give the emphasis to the people and culture more than the construction development

Achievements over the past year:

- 1) 2022, fixed and renovated an old deserted village house with 10 volunteers from Iran, Cambodia, Mexico, Indonesia and Vietnam.
- 2) 2022, harvested perilla crops from 900 square meter farm with 10 volunteers.
- 3) 2022, recycled wasted wood and made 2 tables and 5 chairs for the community with 10 volunteers.

Before 2022

- Advocated traditional natural architecture and hired local traditional craftsmen to lead volunteers to build natural architecture rest pavilions for the community, 2 bamboo huts with 20 volunteers
- Tree trimming in mountainous areas, tidying up trails and stacking stone ridges (to prevent earth and rock collapse), etc
- Accompaniment and meal sharing with seniors in the community, education and counseling for rural children

W:

We will focus on sustainable living and natural building, inherit the craftsmanship of craftsmen, with learning and field exercises of using the natural construction methods of earth, bamboo and stone. We will also conduct cultural exchanges with new immigrants through farm to table and foreign food exchanges to enhance mutual understanding, reduce conflicts, and have harmonious life together.

S:

Capitalism brings excessive materials, participants will learn how to use local materials, waste utilization, and recycle resources to gradually move towards carbon reduction or zero carbon life. Industrialized agriculture has squeezed the living space of many animals and plants, and produced many impure agricultural products. The participants will be stationed at the Habitat Agriculture Farm to experience how Habitat Agriculture achieves both ecology and the satisfaction of human beings to produce healthy food

AD:

At a hundred year old village house. Sleeping bag is required! Food will be offered by local people but volunteers still have a chance to cook in some cultural exchange events.

We hope that young volunteers who wish to participate are those who have ideas and passion for ecology and sustainability. The camp will not teach them how much knowledge is enough, but we expect that the experience of living in the natural environment of the rural area during the camp can create a force in their hearts to become the seeds of actively caring for the life of the earth.

To Give, to Receive, and to Achieve Wellness of Both Body & Mind

Preserving Laojie: A Cultural Exchange and Sustainability Initiative VYA-2303LJ; Aug. 22nd-29th; CUL, ENVI, KIDS; 5 Vols.

Zhongli District in Taoyuan City was originally settled by the Hakka people. The valley formed by a stream was called "Li" in the Hakka language, and the location surrounded by Laojie River and Xinjie River was named "Jianzai". During the Japanese colonial period, the area was renamed "Zhongli Street", which became the main road connecting the north and south.

The area near the Laojie River(老街溪) is known as the "Laojie District", and it is home to Japanese-style buildings, century-old shops, Hakka culture, and the Laojie River which has greatly influenced the local way of life. Unfortunately, with the passing of time, many local youths and immigrants are no longer familiar with the historical context of this area. In order to preserve this unique cultural heritage, we hope to raise awareness and interest in the history of Zhongli Laojie District and achieve the goal of cultural preservation.

Host Organization

Chung Yuan Christian University(中原大學) is built upon the principles of Christian love for the world. With unwavering faith, hope, and love, we strive to advance higher education. To encourage our teachers and students to engage with society through "Love and Professionalism", and to empower our students to integrate their knowledge into action through "Learning by Doing", the University established the "Office of Service Learning Project" in March 2007. This project was later renamed the "Service Learning Center" in March 2008, with the purpose of promoting service-learning courses and projects in a systematic and ongoing manner. The Center also encourages our students to participate in social services, fulfill their civic responsibilities, and develop their core competencies for future employment.

In 2019, we expanded our efforts by taking over the "Taolien Youth Volunteer Service Center" from the Youth Development Administration, Ministry of Education. Our goal is to create a youth-friendly volunteer service platform in Taoyuan and collaborate with schools, associations, and organizations to encourage the youth to participate in volunteer services and elevate the energy of youth volunteerism in Taoyuan.

Our website : <https://sl.cycu.edu.tw>

Aims:

1. To foster cultural exchange between local and international youth, and promote an appreciation for the history and culture of Zhongli Laojie District.
2. To facilitate the sharing of diverse international cultures and broaden children's global perspectives.
3. To support conservation efforts for the Laojie River habitat and raise awareness for environmental sustainability.

Achievements over the past year:

1. Since 2017, Chung Yuan University Service-Learning Center has been organizing a number of one-day local cultural experience workshops for young volunteers to learn more about the local culture.
2. 2022, To focus on Zhongli Laojie District, we organize three-day, two-night Local International Work Camp around three themes: " Laojie River ", " Historical Shops" and " Historical Buildings" . Xiushan Community is located in the center of Taichung, near the foothills across the mountain and overlooking the Taiwan Strait. Sixty percent of its residents engage in agriculture, planting wheat, rice, red barley, and other grains. The presence of the Precision Science Park six years ago encouraged the community to seek the return of its young population. The community hopes that international volunteers will encourage residents to engage in community affairs and introduce diverse cultural experiences.

Aims:

3. Combine the martial arts teachers and craftsmen of the community to create an experience for international volunteers and residents. The program involves making the lion's head and painting, training lion skills, and experiencing the community Song Jiangzhen, the official will be the first. This program also promotes painting folk art, and the results are presented back to the community to showcase an important part of its culture.

Preserve and Revitalize the Old Houses in Wuqi

VYA-2307HC; AUG.14th –Sep. 2nd; Taichung Taiwan, RENO+COM; 10 Vols

Wuqi District is a plain situated between the Dajia and Dadut rivers, with Qingshui District to the north, Shalu District to the east, Longjing District to the south, and the Taiwan Strait to the west. The current coastline is formed by Taichung Port, and as a coastal town, its history is closely tied to the prosperity of the harbor. Formerly known as "Bamboo Raft Cave" and "Wuqi Port," Wuqi is located to the west of Qingshui Mountain, in Qingshui District, and is also referred to as "Aoxin."

According to regional scholars, "the Chinese Phoenix does not live without the Phoenix Tree, nor consume without holy spring water and bamboo," which led to the name "Wuqi." When visiting Wuqi and speaking with locals, visitors can hear its Taiwanese pronunciation, which is similar to "Wuqi."

After the merger of Taichung County and City into a single municipality on December 25, 2010, Wuqi Town was reorganized into Wuqi District. Although the administrative area is not extensive, it possesses significant cultural tourism potential due to its abundant cultural properties, including municipal historic sites, historic buildings, and municipal folk culture. There are numerous prosperous years and temples throughout the district, reflecting the piety and expectations of Wuqi's ancestors. During the northeast monsoon season, visitors can witness the mullet migration, and there are various seafood restaurants where people can savor local delicacies and experience the living culture of this land.

Aims:

The purpose of this event is to revitalize and repurpose old buildings in Wuqi District, Taichung City, such as Tuencuo, street houses in Wuqi Old Street, and wooden structures. Participants will learn about the meaning of community building and how to assist local communities in carrying out public works. This event will also allow participants to experience local customs and traditional cultural festivals in Wuqi and learn about the district's historical evolution and local traditional culture.

W:

Since 2016, the community has invited over 50 international volunteers to renovate old buildings, exchange traditional cultures, and interact with locals in Wuqi. The program is open for the summer vacation period, and participants who are interested in community service, old house restoration, and space creation, especially those with relevant background departments or work experience in visual arts, architectural design, landscape, and space planning, are preferred.

AD:

Accommodations for the event are in an accommodation owned by the community, with shared rooms and wooden beds. Participants need to bring their own sleeping bags and mosquito repellent. The community will provide two meals every day, and volunteers need to prepare dinner for themselves in the kitchen provided. Participants can also try delicious food in Wuqi, especially seafood, during their free time.

SR:

We prefer participants who are interested in community service, old house restoration, and space creation, particularly those with relevant background experience in visual arts, architectural design, landscape architecture, and space planning.

【Project Background】 Xiluo Township

Xiluo is a township located in the northeast of Yunlin County, in the middle of Taiwan. Situated in the Zhuoshui River alluvial fan valley, it gradually decreases from the east to the south. One of the most famous landmarks in Taiwan, the impressive Xiluo Bridge has stood on the river for 68 years, providing visitors with stunning views of the sunset.

For those looking to experience typical Taiwanese culture and history, Xiluo's old street is a must-visit destination. Between 1925 and 1940, almost 200 western-style street-houses were built on Xiluo Old Street. The historical buildings on Yanping Road have witnessed the cultural development and business prosperity of Xiluo throughout the years. The Louyoung Culture and Education Foundation aims to protect these historical buildings and promote Xiluo's culture and art, ultimately improving the quality of life in the area.

Visitors to Xiluo can learn Mandarin Chinese speaking and traditional Chinese Kung Fu, experience the Taiwanese Puppet show, learn handcraft skills, and even make friends with the local people. There is also an opportunity to visit the primary school for a culture exchange or to teach English, as well as attend the community college.

To further enhance the dynamic of the city, international visitors are invited to join the social work. This opportunity provides not only voluntary work but also a fantastic chance for cultural exchange and learning about Taiwanese culture. Additionally, visitors can explore the area by visiting local artists, participating in local activities, experiencing ecotourism during their free time, and interacting with the friendly locals.

Overall, Xiluo is an excellent destination for those looking to learn about Taiwanese culture, history, and art while contributing to the local community.

【About the Xiluo street】

Yenping old street underwent significant improvements to increase the comfort of its residents. The street was widened by 15.5 meters, with brick sidewalks on both sides, trees were planted, and power lines were installed. During the period of 1925-1940, many different styles of houses were visible on Yenping street. Today, there are 142 elegant houses remaining from that time, most of which were built a century ago.

At that time, Yenping Historical Street served as the town center, a bustling street filled with various traditional shops. However, 15 years ago, many of the houses became vacant, resulting in a gradual decline in the economic activity of Yenping Street and its identity over the years.

【About the foundation】

Louyoung Foundation was founded in 1995, by a group of enthusiastic local cultural figures, who first organized tour guide groups, volunteer groups, a scout community, the Louyoung puppet theater troupe, and much more.

The first preparations to establish Louyoung Cultural and Educational Foundation were made in 1994 by a group of like-minded friends who organized local concerts, art exhibitions, lectures and seminars to bring more activities into the community. The idea of a cultural center was also supported by local people who enjoyed the community activities and wanted to promote and maintain local traditions.

Luckily, preparations were made one year later, and in 1995 the first National Art Festival was launched in the county. Yunlin Cultural Bureau wanted to hold the festival in Xiluo, and in order to promote the local heritage, the festival was called “Romance of Xiluo”. Since at that time Louyoung Foundation was not known by Yunlin Cultural bureau, it officially applied to host the festival since this event will be a great opportunity to make Louyoung Foundation known to the public. Therefore, the initiative of inviting reporters and social media was taken in hope to promote the foundation and to raise enough funds to set it up.

As a result of the previous actions and initiatives, the Louyoung Cultural and Educational Foundation was founded. The board of directors was established, being led by: Chairman Liao Deng Tang and CEO Lee Hong Yi, followed by Lai Mei Ru and Louise Ho as Executive Secretaries, Liao Sheng Long, Yang Yong Xiong and the volunteer community hoping they could make Xiluo a better place.

It is now the most important cultural center in the city, which provides space for artists and writers to display their work, and where visitors can learn more about the old town’s history and traditions. The Board of Directors and volunteers at Louyoung Foundation work hard every day to contribute with their time and money to protect Xiluo's heritage and traditions.

【Xiluo Culture Museum】

Xiluo Cultural Museum aims to protect local culture and heritage through the Louyoung Cultural and Educational Foundation. It locates at No. 92 of Yanping old street in the original Jie Fa Qian Ji Tea house, which was built in 1932. Xiluo Cultural Museum maintains the building's original historical pattern and provides space for artists and writers to display their work. At the same time, it is also the headquarters of Yunlin Central Community College. Now, Xiluo Cultural Museum is the most important cultural center and landmark in town, where visitors can learn a lot history and traditions of the old city.

【About Yunlin Community College】

Yunlin Central Community College was founded in 2020 by Louyoung Cultural and Educational Foundation, to develop emancipatory knowledge, social care, and to increase civic engagement. Five campus are located in Xiluo, Erlun, Lunbei, Taixi, and Mailiao. These communities are tightened with its local economies, such as agricultural and fish farming activities. However, the rural exodus of young people, the aging population, agricultural land abandonment, and the lack of self-confidence are long-standing problems that should face up and take action.

Thus, we adopt the three policies of "Elders & Youth Co-learning, Regional Revitalization, Cultural Ecology" as the guideline for Central Community College aim for reaching our teaching target, "Civilization Process@Central Community College". We hope that under this strategic goal to boost the self-confidence and civic consciousness of residents, assist in understanding Yunlin culture, and solve the crux of the cultural weakness comprehensively from the relationship with the land, population, environment, and ecology, and make Yunlin Central Community College as a platform for learning from local culture and life wisdom.

【About this Journey】

Today, walking along the Yenping Historical Street, you can see 142 decorated historical houses in total. Most of them were built more than 90 years ago. A century ago, Yenping Street was the “downtown” with prosperity, but nowadays, as business gradually declined, the residents moved away from Xiluo and Yenping Street have become quieter. As a result, many houses have started to decay.

Because of the "Community Renaissance" movement conducted by Luoyoung Foundation and local government, the street becomes prosperous again! In the past 9 years, we have invited many cultural groups and artists to visit and stay in Xiluo, and host different performances. At the same time, we are committed to promoting the art of sculpture and reserve more than 40 pieces of public art for Xiluo. They are arranged at the head of the Grand Xiluo Bridge and the Sculpture Park. We also hosted 11 international work camps focusing on renovating heritage houses.

However, there are many sculptures that need to be refurbished, painted, maintained, and guaranteed. We hope to promote the transformation of Xiluo Bridge into a sculpture art gallery to prevent the sculptures from being worn out.

Now, we have also established community colleges to help residents better understand local culture and keep up with international standards. Welcome to make friends with students from community colleges, teach English in elementary school, high school, or Yunlin Community College in Xiluo, and experienced traditional Taiwanese culture. Therefore, we would like to invite international friends to come join us. It is not only a voluntary work but also a precious opportunity to experience different culture and widen your horizons.

Aims

- 1) Creating international cultural exchange and supporting the development of Xiluo community.
- 2) Revitalizing Xiluo historical street.
- 3) Making friends with global backpackers.
- 4) Improving Xiluo's quality of life.
